HON. GEO. HENRICKS. OF PERRY COUNTY,

Delivered in the House of Representatives, February 26, 1867,

PROPOSITION TO STRIKE THE WORD WHITE FROM THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO.

The resolution to strike the word White from the Constitution of the State, and to prohibit all who engaged in the late rebellien the right of voting, being under con-

Mr. HENRICKS said: This resolution provides that every male citizen of the United States (who has not citizen of the United States (who has not engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same), of the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a resident of the State one year next preceding the election, and of the county, township or ward in which he resides, such time as may be provided by law, shall have the qualifications of an elector and be entitled to vote at all elections

A candid consideration should be had, at least on a resolution of such moment as the one pending now before this House—a proposition to amend the Constitution of the State, and thereby effect a radical change in one of the most important pro-visions of that instrument; a provision which protects directly the purity of the ballot-box, and one held most sacred by every citizen of the State of Ohio. This resolution, though singularly worded, has but one object, that is to strike the word white from the Constitution of Ohio and to extend the elective franchise to the colored population of this State. It is nevertheless characterized as other resolutions and propositions of a political nature coming from the other side of the House, are and have been for the last three or four years The same old curtain which has heretofore been successfully drawn for such purpose, and behind which they have always screened themselves when they wished to accom-plish anything real devilish, when neces-sary will again be dropped, and instead of the real object of those cunning actors (pegroes voting at the polls), will exhibit only vast armies of Ohio rebel soldiers. devastating the country and murdering innocent Union women and children. Now, sir, while I am not the enemy of the colored man, and would not impede his progress as a race of people, in the exercise of charity and good will toward mankind, I profess to be not the less humane when I shall steadily oppose his voting or holding any office in the State of Ohio. The design of the framers of our Government was, that it should be conducted and remain in the hauds of the white citizens of the United States and of the but s. not that the negro should share in and become a part of the Government of this country. Their design was that in the future the white man should be the governing element of the nation; that in the future the white man should be the President of the United States and the Governor of the State of Ohio; that he should fill the seats in the legislative halls in Congress and in our State Legislature; that he should sit as Judge upon the Supreme beach of the State and in the Courts of Common Pleas in our districts and counties. This resolution proposes an entire change of programme. Its proposition is, that the megro shall enjoy the right of franchise and political equality with the white man; that sometime in the future the negro should become the President of the United States or the Governor of the State of Ohio, and there execute the laws of the country and of the State; that the negro shall fill the seats in the legislative halls in Congress and in the State Legislature, and there enact laws by which the white citizens of the United States and the proud State of Ohio shall be governed; that he should sit as Judge upon the Supreme bench of the tate, and in the Courts of Common Pleas in our districts and counties, and there hear trials, determine causes, and pass sentence upon the white citizens of the State and county. Evidently this course of policy had been determined upon for some time past by the leaders of the Republican party. They did not come out with it boldly and manfully in their party platforms, because they knew that the great mass of the voters of Ohio were opposed to it; but through their journals, and in their speeches, on the stump and in the national councils (to educate the public mind), they indirectly and directly asserted the policy, and, through legislation, they stealthily force this measure upon the people, and coming out open-ly with a resolution disclosing the real features of the party. Gentlemen deserve eredit for the honesty pursued in this, and will hereafter not deny its being an open measure of the party. Therefore, it is proper to consider the merits of the policy. And I object to negroes voting and his political equality with the white man, first, on the grounds of his inferiority as a race. Impartial observation satisfies my mind that in point of dignity, as a race of people, the negro is in the scale of creation mentally the inferior of the white man. This inferiority is a generally admitted that it tally the inferior of the white man. This inferiority is so generally admitted, that it is hardly necessary to argue that point.—

You ask the soldier, who in the last three or four years had some means to form an opinion, you ask him, if in his opinion the negro is mentally capacitated to vote, and should be admitted politically as the white man's equal, and he will tell you it is an error in judgment for any one to form this conclusion. But to compare the white and minors. Then, sir, if, in the exercise of black race of people. If the negro is human voting, we are going to break over the and possesses the attributes of man, whether he was created when the white man was in the garden of Eden, and Moses, in written the Government, pray tell me where shall the Government, pray tell me where shall the Government, pray tell me where shall the Government in the Government. ing the book of Genesis, forgot to say anything about it or not, we suppose him at least launched forth on the great ocean of time, about the same period with the other portion of the human family.

Then, sir, it in point of natural ability as a strong claim upon this Government as the Government, pray tell me where shall we begin? in our national legislation in the Congress of the United States? Have not 5,000,000 of white women over twenty-one years of age as much interest, rights, and as strong claim upon this Government as the Government as t race, he is the equal of the white man, the question naturally arises, why has he not advanced equally with him in progress of ernment as 4,000,000 of negroes have? and in civilization? We go back to the time when mankind first began to battle with the world, before any period of progress, and we find all men in a savage stage of society—the white man, the yellow man, the red man, the brown man and the black man. man, the brown man and the black man. The world lay before them, and evidently they had an equal chance to make the best out of it for themselves they could to the extent of their ability. Why had they not an equal chance? They all lived upon the same globe; the same earth lay beneath their teet; they had the same sun above their heads to give them light by day, and the same moon and stars to give them light by night. The vegetable, mineral and animal productions of the earth in the countries of Africa were not inferior to other portions of the globe, and in a physical tries of Africa were not inferior to other portions of the globe, and in a physical point of view her advantages were equally good; the Atlantic washes her shores on the West, the Indian ocean on the East, the Southern ocean on the South. The Mediterranean sea on the North connects her directly with civilized Europe. And her mighty rivers, the Niger and the Nile, are equal in magnitude to many of the navigable streams of Europe, Asia and the Western continent. Then, with this natural tacility to compete with the other portion of mankind in advancement and enterprise of life, with the same advantage, if the negro has equal ability with the white man, why is he not equally advanced with him in civilization? Now, sir, while the white man progressed first from a savage to a barbarous stage of society (because in the barbarous stage of society (because in the beginning mankind were all savages), the negro, with equal advantage, remained the same savage; while the white man progressed from a barbarous to a half civilized stage of society, the negro still remained the same savage; while the white man still progressed from a half civilized to a civilized stage of society, the negro yet remained the same savage; and while the white man finally progressed from a civilized to an enlightened stage of society, far advanced in the arts and sciences the negro residence. ed in the arts and sciences, the negro remained still the same savage. Then since, mained still the same savage. Then since, with equal advantage, the negro has not progressed equally with the white man, in fact in a period of six thousand years has not progressed at all, therefore, the natural inference and conclusion, in my mind, is this, that as a race, he is not capacitated to advance. That he has not the power of mind to originate and the ability to bring to his requisition and advantage the boun-ties of nature by which he is surrounded. Therefore, we conclude that mentally he is the inferior of the white man, and so much his interior, that in a political point of view, he has not the capacity, and he can never arrive to that stage of progress qualified as a race to become a fit ruling element in this great American Government.

But suppose he was mentally the equal of the white man, the objection to his voting would yet be well sustained on the grounds that the negro belongs to a different GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS. We find the human family divided into distinct races, differing widely from each other in color, form and feature. This constitutes the distinctive mark of difference between the races of mankind. At the same time we find each of those different races of mankind peculiarly adapted to certain portions of the globe, and those portions of the globe to which they are Commencing Monday, October 15. adapted, seem as appropriately fitted to the peculiar condition of each distinct race of people. Thus we find the European or white race occupy the countries of Europe, Western Asia, the North of Africa, with all the white inhabitants of the United States. The Asiatic or yellow race occupy exclusively the countries of Eastern Asia. The Indian or red race occupy the wilds of America directly east and west of the Rocky Mountains. The Majore Poly race occupy the countries of Malacca, Polynesia and New Zealand, and the African or negro race occupy Western, Central, and Southern Africa. Now then, sir, without detail, experience in reference to those races has demonstrated this fact: that the races has demonstrated this fact: that the country each race occupy most fully developes the physiological strength of that race, and the physical condition of the country seems best to suit their peculiar capacity of enterprise and ability of industry. Then, sir, with these observations so widely in color, form and feature; since each seem to inhabit portions of the globe to which they are peculiarly adapted, and which seem to be as particularly fitted to their respective wants, therefore this conclusion seems to me reasonable, that the Creator never designed that those different races of people should commingle and live together on equality in the same country. And the history of the world and observation prove that in the same country those different races never did live together in harmony and on equality. There seems to be, apart from natural jealousy, distinctions and an irrepressible conflict of interest between the races of men which create disturbance and war, and the one will always subdue the other and obtain the mastery. We have the most striking example of this in our own country. The red man of the forest and the white man never dwelt together in peace. There was continual warring between the white and red race from the first settlement of the colonies to the present time. The white man conquered the Indian and drove him to the far west where he still remains in hostile attitude, and the African race he held in subjection. TABLE NAPKINS, Gentlemen will find by observation that TOWELINGS. where those distinct races of men inhabit the same country, the one will always be the master of the other. Then practically in our own case, the white man will gov-

in reference to mankind, since they differ ern this country and the negro too, or the negro will govern this country and the white man too. We can never run this Government in partnership half white and half black. We have certainly enough evidence daily to prove sufficiently that the colored and white man will EMBROIDERIES. never live together in peace and harmony in this or any other country, much less go hand in hand in conducting the affairs of the Government. Then, in my judgment, it is good policy, while he stays in our country, to hold him in a condition politically inferior to ourselves. Taking into consideration the conflict of interest and consideration the conflict of interest, and the jealousy which must naturally exist between two such distinct races of people as the white and the black, if a collision of to compete in strength with the white man.

But aside from those abstract notions, and in a purely legal or political point of view, and allowing the colored man all the sympathy possible, our system of franchise is firmly established by the Constitution and laws of the General and State Governments. I will not pause to question the wisdom of the framers of the Constitution of the United States and of the State of Ohio. They may have erred in drawing the line of demarcation where they did, but an experience of seventy years has satisfactorily demonstrated to my mind the propriety of the mode of voting which they established.— A line of demarcation had to be drawn somewhere, or else men, women and children-white, yellow, red, brown and black -would all go to the polls in a promiscuous mass and vote, and even infants who could be made to understand sufficiently to take a ballot and present it to the judge, would be accepted as a voter. Our forefathers, then, in traming the Constitution and laws of the General and State Government, saw fit, in their wisdom and candid delibera-tions, to make a distinction somewhere -to draw a line of demarcation. They made this distinction. They made it on account of race, sex and age, and theremale citizens of 21 years of age and of sound mind, and they excluded women, minors as voice in government is concerned, on an equality. The last census of the United States found us with a population of 30,000.

000, including all race, sex and age. Now, sir, about one-sixth portion, that is 5,000, 000 of this population, are allowed to vote and to make and establish the laws of the country, and the other portion, that is 25.000,000, are deprived of this privilege. Of the proportion deprived, 4,000,000 are negroes, about 5,000,000 are white women over 21 years of age, and about 16,000,000 are minors, or under 21 years of age. The last census found the State of Ohio with a population of 2,400,000, including all race, sex and age. Now, then, about one-sixth portion of this population, that is 400,000, and upward, have the privilege to vote, and to make and execute the laws of the State Government, and the other portion, that is about two millions of the population of the State, are deprived of this privilege. Of the proportion of population thus deprived, about 36,000 are negroes, about 432,000 are white women over twentry-one years of age, and about 1,532,000 are may38'64-tf

Replenished with Fuel but once a week; requiring less Fuel than any other Air Furnace ever before invented.

Pure, Even, Unburnt Atmosphere, Night and Day, Without the Usual Trouble and At-

BY AN INGENIOUS CONTRIVANCE. D originating with the inventor of this Furuace, all the cold air is made to pass through water on its way to the cold air chamber, thus cleansing it of every particle of dust, so that it enters the room as pure as though it was on the mountain's top. Physiciatis praise it, and recommend it on account of its health-importing tendency.

The amount of Fuel required by this Furnace to warm a dwelling of from nine to thirteen rooms, is no greater than is required by one greater and it warm a dwelling of from nine to thirteen rooms, is no greater than is required by one grate; and it gives an even, summer like temperature, night and day, in all parts of the house.

After several seasons use, this Furnace has fully established its claim as the most desirable Warming and Ventilating Apparatus in use. Burning anthracite or bituminous coal, coke or wood equally well, upon the true principle o economy—slow combustion of a large mass of fuel—it secures an evenness and freshness of temperature, a steady flow of pure, clean, unburnt air, night and day, while the furnace itself will not burn out or require repairs for many years. The correctness of the above is certified to by the written testimonials of many leading citizens of this and other cities, which will be furnished with Blustrated descriptive pamphlet, price list, &c., upon application by mail, or at Nos. 149 and 151 West Fifth street, Cinciunati Ohio.
